

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, November 2.—Manufacturing is the industry which has shown the largest gain in employment, 1925-1936, according to a survey published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Those who fear that free trade policies damage domestic industry should take heart from the fact that on January 1st the United States was admitted to the increased tariff rate—a move characterized by one Ottawa expert as the greatest single reduction ever made in the Canadian tariff, the important tariff reductions to Japan were also made on the same day, and on May 1st the duties on British textiles was cut. Also on gasoline, farm implements and other commodities.

Yet the index of employment in Canadian manufacturing since January 1st has steadily improved. There were on October 1st, 62,800 more persons employed in Canadian factories than at the first of the year. Some improvement is usual in the early 1935 the gains have been notably large. General employment in Canadian industries on the October 1st was 7,151 larger than on the same date in 1925. The survey, maintained by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, does not include agriculture, but it reflects what is going on in agriculture, because when the farmer has money to buy things all other industries show an improvement.

Alberta versus Ottawa
Alberta again appeared in vain to Ottawa and the Bank of Canada for assistance. Viewed in the main, the two are sharply divided. Here at Ottawa there is a tendency to ask whether any other reply could be expected, in view of what has been seen in the past. Some western people take the opposite view and regard the whole business as a conspiracy on the part of the "big interests" to undermine Social Credit. You pay your money and you take your choice. The federal government has no authority to loan money, but with conditions different it is quite conceivable that they might be prepared to advance the money without any strings and take a chance on parliament confirming it. You will recall they were able to launch a big drought relief scheme without any legislative authority. Also a nation wide home repair scheme. But Premier Abernethy made a good deal out of the statement that banks create money by a stroke of the pen, and some of the sceptics in the East are asking now why he doesn't employ a similar method to meet his monetary needs. He is a rather sorry spectacle all around and one doubts whether it is doing either the federal or the provincial government any good. The fact is that it is the innocent bystander in most cases who pays the rap for these economic and political "ventrepreneurs."

The Unemployed Women
The problem of finding a job for the unemployed women of Canada is proving to be no such for the National Employment Commission. Mrs. Mary McCallum Sutherland is a brilliant economist and writer and has enlisted the aid of able women from coast to coast. But so far no one has come forward with a proposition which promises to do more than skin the surface. No single spectacular program is to be expected. Rather in every community which is prepared to co-operate assistance will be given by the federal authorities to such schemes and plans as promise to help the discovery which Mrs. Sutherland has made is that the schools, hospitals and colleges are turning out far more professional women than can possibly be absorbed, while there is a crying need for help in a few industrial lines and for trained domestic servants. The fault seems to be that we have glorified professional work and made handwork (including the science of running a home) something menial and undesirable. The result is that girls want to be in the business or professional world. The National Employment Commission will among other things, assist in providing suitable training centres for girls who wish to know the business of being a capable domestic and who as a result will probably be able to find better wages and working conditions.

A conference was held at Ottawa this week by officials from the nine provinces and Dominion authorities regarding Canadian Acts in Canada. There are ten different acts, and it is confusing for the investment brokers and the company promoters and some

HALLOWE'EN DANCE

Unique and exceedingly appropriate were the decorations which transformed the Memorial Hall to a perfect Halloween setting for the occasion of the dance named a "Night in Hades" and given under the auspices of the Local Dramatic Club. Streamers of orange and black tissue paper were stretched the full length of the sides completely covered with black while covering each pillar balls of orange with the lights from behind gave a lurid and ghastly color. The stage reproducing a scene from the outer regions with its startling lights looking very lurid against the black background, was cleverly constructed. To diffuse, Mr. Wiley and Mr. Albert Giffen did the very large part of the decorating and were ably assisted by Mrs. French, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Young.

The orchestra—Sir Red Devils were dressed to look their part, the better head gear, horns and all being the work of Mrs. French. The orchestra comprised Edith Hirtle, Arlene Garrett, Walter Mercer, Jack Cannon, Doug Hirtle and Eric Hirtle, with song bits by Max Wells. They gave forth music that impelled the very large crowd to dance every number.

Thrilled by the unique setting and in very merry mood and the dance was a pronounced success. Short drinks, novelties, and soda makers drew many a coin from merry makers.

Dr. Giffen, Mrs. French and Miss Edith Hirtle completely estimated of arrangements with the Club members assisting in various ways.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H. G. C. Strange)

Director, "Crop Testing Plant"

Canadian wheat is seldom used abroad as the main ingredient in making a loaf of bread.

The European loaf generally is made from native wheats. Such bread is nutritious, of good flavor, but is not very palatable, the loaf is small and heavy, and very attractive nor appetizing.

Wheat, however, as little as fifteen percent of "Manitoba" is mixed with native wheats an almost magical change takes place; the loaf now is more palatable, the loaf is small and heavy, and very attractive nor appetizing.

Wheat prices have recently been pushed up by the following influences:—Four conditions present in Australia. Fear of war in Europe continues. Chinese cotton crop largest on record, giving increased purchasing power. Construction increasing in world, demanding more floured oil so more flour.

Prices have been pushed down by latest statistics world wheat shortage less than previously estimated. Crop conditions in Argentina improving. Exports of wheat occurring from unexpected countries.

Japanese dry bean crop shows decided increase. European hog population five per cent increase over last year. European fruit crop expected to be larger than last year.

CONTRACT HOLDERS ORGANIZE TO MAINTAIN PRESENT SYSTEM

At a representative meeting of farmers held Tuesday afternoon in Strathmore the motion was unanimously passed that steps should be taken to protect Contract Holders from any change. The meeting felt strongly that the proposed change which has been urged recently in the Western and Central block would tend to increase disaster for the general agricultural population. Petitions will be circulated immediately to signed by all farmers who are opposed to the change suggested at recent meetings. A system which is generally felt would entail too much responsibility and would eventually lead to greater difficulty.

MR. JUSTICE EWING CONDUCTS ENQUIRY IN IRRIGATION AND KINDRED PROBLEMS

An enquiry by the commission appointed by the Provincial government to look into the irrigation problem in Alberta, was held in the dining room of the Memorial Hall on Tuesday morning, November 3rd. A large number of farmers attended the meeting. Hon. Mr. Justice Ewing stated that the purpose of the meeting was to try to find out the cost of irrigation to the farmers, what rates could be paid and how much overhead expense could be borne.

Evidence was given by various witnesses. Chief amongst them was the present system appeared to be the overestimate of the amount of irrigable land on the various farms. Some of the witnesses were well satisfied with the present rates and stated their unwillingness to leave without the use of irrigation. The chief use of water appeared to be for hay, livestock and pasture. Very little was used for grain although evidence given showed that when used the yield on some soils was often twice as great as that on which irrigation was not used. Answers to questions asked regarding intensified farming seemed to indicate that this could be made more successful than on a large scale. Evidence given regarding the cost of preparing land for irrigation was very contradictory. The estimates varied from 30c per acre to 50c per acre.

Farmers giving evidence were Messrs Worthington, Buckley, Kelly, Hansen, Stewart, Lavender, McHenry, Downey, Phillips and Keir. The Commission consisted of Hon. Mr. Justice Ewing, Prof. Wyatt and Roy W. Hastings. Mr. J. M. McDonald, K.C. acted as counsel for the Commission.

VERY SUCCESSFUL MUSIC RECITAL

The Recital arranged by Miss Gerry Van Tichem and Miss Alice May proved a very successful and interesting evening.

The pupils of these young ladies acquitted themselves with credit to themselves and to their teachers, and showed the result of painstaking care on the part of the instructor and many hours of faithful work on the part of the pupils.

Added interest was given by the assistance of pupils of Mrs. Earl Gillespie, violin solos by Miss Edith Hirtle and solo sang in excellent voice by Miss Mary Polk and Mr. Leslie Hand. It was very interesting to watch the development year by year, and there were several young pianists who gave proof of possessing much musical ability.

These public recitals were started some five or six years ago by Miss Florence Garrett and we are pleased to say are being continued by Miss Van Tichem and Miss May. It is not easy for a young pupil to play before a large audience, but it is excellent training.

Miss May was the recipient of a beautiful spray of carnations and roses from the pupils presented by Lois White, Miss Polk and Miss Hirtle. Beautiful Shaggy Mums from Miss Gerry Van Tichem and a lovely spray of house double Mums and a purse to Miss Van Tichem from her pupils and their parents, presented by Lois Campbell.

Coming on the stage to play the National Anthem, Mrs. Gillespie received warm applause from her Strathmore friends.

WEDDINGS

ROBERTSON — CARLSON

The bride and groom were present and after the ceremony the all repaired to the home of the groom's parents where a buffet supper was served. The bride, looking prettily adorned with a three tier wedding cake having the central place of honor.

The bride's traveling outfit was a lovely gray suit with blue accessories. After spending their honeymoon at Banff the happy couple will reside on their farm in the Balise district.

There was a large audience present who followed the entire programme with closest interest. Certificates were presented by Mr. Crowther as chairman to Marjorie Hansen, Elsie Robinson and Viola Payne.

GLADSTONE MURRAY, DEBATER,
FLYER AND WRITER—
BORN IN B. C.

Vancouver—William Ewart Gladstone Murray, newly appointed secretary of the Canadian Radio Commission, did his first public speaking as a soap-box orator in Powell Street playgrounds in the heart of Vancouver's Jap town. Many people now in Vancouver remember him as a youth with a head seemingly 2 sizes too big for him and a readiness to argue on any given subject at the drop of a hat.

"He was the darndest debater I ever heard," commented Howe Holland, prominent Vancouver lawyer. "One day he'd be denouncing capital and haranguing the workers, urging them to rise against their oppressors, and the next day he'd be on just the opposite tack. It didn't seem to matter to Murray what side he took so long as he had the floor."

Born in B. C.
Major Murray's appointment was proud news to the little Fraser Valley town of Maple Ridge, for that is his birthplace. His father, Paul Murray, was a school teacher there for years, and now lives in nearby Pitt Meadows. It was his father who insisted that the young fellow should have a thorough education, and an education he was given, although many a professor sighed with relief when graduation came.

Young Murray wasn't merely an orator. He was captain of a house squad and a member of the track team and helped to make the initials M. B. C. (McGill) in B.C. famous. But he was most vividly remembered for his pranks. He started the first university daily in Canada while at McGill. He became a reporter on the Montreal Herald after graduation in 1912, and a year later was voted Rhodes scholar for Quebec.

Served as Flyer
After he broke out Murray joined the Highland Light Infantry with an Oxford unit, went to France and was one of the first Canadians to join the Royal Flying Corps. He was a secretary in the League of Nations almost from its inception, and from there worked into the British broom-casting Company, first as a press agent. Repeated promotions made him eventually the programme director.

As director of public relations and manager of publications of the British Broadcasting Corporation, he developed "Radio Times," and founded "The Listener," and "World Radio." There has been no intimation that this particular type of work will be developed by the Canadian Commission should it be undertaken that the new chairman L. R. Brockington has for some time been keenly interested in the B.C.C. publications.

Public Relations
He established and maintained the relations between the corporation and the press, government departments, Parliament and the public generally. He has handled the political broadcasting at all British elections since 1924.

He was invited as a special witness to appear before the Parliamentary committee on radio broadcasting of 1932 he was again brought to Canada, this time at the invitation of the then prime minister to make recommendations with regard to the reorganization of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission.
"His freedom from labels is a tribute to the wide range of his sympathies. He combines enthusiasm with an amused detachment, both admirable qualities. He has given 12 years' hard work to the B. C. C. during its most critical years and it would be difficult to imagine a better preparation for any Canadian called upon to remake broadcasting as a public service in Canada. All his friends, a very large company, will wish him success."

TUDOR

Tudor has lost one of its best liked families, Mr and Mrs V. Belts, Vernia, Mason and Derris. Fortunately for us, they have only gone as far as the Strathmore district. Mrs Belts' niche in this district will be hard to fill. She helped willingly and energetically with all community projects, and gave freely of her time and effort whenever they were needed. The C. F. W. A. in particular, will miss her sorely. She was its efficient secretary for a few years and a capable and generous member always. To folks in trouble she was kind, thoughtful and sympathetic. How we shall miss her. Our parting hope is that the shadow that has overcast their life in the recent past, will gradually disperse and give place to the sunshine of a happy and successful future for them all and may God bless them.

Friends of Mrs Kenneth Schacter will be sorry to know that she underwent an operation for appendicitis this week at the Holy Cross Hospital. At the time of writing she was reported to be resting comfortably. We hope her convalescence will be speedy and that she will soon be home again.

Several Tudor families attended the turkey supper given by the Ladies Aid in Rockyford on Monday, Oct. 26. The number attending was very gratifying, and as your correspondent ate her well prepared and excellent dinner it occurred to her that she was absorbing more than just food. For mashed into the potatoes was unselfish endeavor and dressed into the turkey was noble sympathy. Indeed, the table was a dear tried old face. Tired from spending six hours in a hot and altogether inadequate kitchen and to me the weary face looked beautiful. Odd that fatigue and age should look lovely? Yet they did! I expect it is telling for a cause that gives light to the eyes. Working for others, for no reward? And how tire some it must often be to keep the banners of the church flying. Especially when banners resolve themselves into rosters and satrapas. My heart went out to the noble band of the Rockyford Ladies Aid. What must often seem a thankless task. Where would the church be without them? All honor to them—from Tudor

 Daily and quietly came the call,
 His sudden death surprised us all.

 His heart was true and tender.
 His smile we miss since he has gone,
 And left us to remember.
 Sadly missed by Annie, Stanley,
